How many of us consider ourselves to be law-abiding individuals—let me see your hands? Most of us take it for granted that most of the laws in our society are worthwhile and reasonable, and we're thankful for them. Laws are absolutely essential to keeping us safe and...